

COLORED BAPTISTS ARGUE LENGTHILY

Much Confusion Last Night in Fifth Street Baptist Church.

BALLOT FAR INTO NIGHT

Dr. Willingham Kept Busy
Pouring Oil On Troubled Waters.

Until near 3 o'clock this morning the question as to the retention of Rev. Dr. A. E. Edwards as pastor of the Fifth-Street Baptist Church, colored, was fought over by both the factions which so long have existed in that greatly-divided church. Serious though the matter was, and one of unparalleled importance to the congregation, its discussion and its settlement were the cause of many amusing incidents. Several times during the course of the night and the early morning the air was fraught with danger, for feeling in both factions was at high-tide, and more than once this feeling threatened to burst its bounds and flood the thousands or more people present in a billowy sea of woe. Dr. Willingham presided over the meeting which was to end the factional fight, and he was kept continually busy pouring oil on the troubled waters. Had it not been for his calm presence and his persuasive voice, trouble appeared on the dark horizon, and serious trouble would surely have ensued. But he was ever ready at the least sign of impending conflict, and what at times threatened to become a serious conflict passed off in only words and gestures. At times the speakers of the evening became exceedingly fiery in their invective, and the pastor came in for apparently more than his share of the eloquent abuse that was poured forth in free and fiery language, although it had been practically agreed that no speaker should indulge in personalities, and that only the interest of the church should be considered, without regard to individuals.

After Dr. Willingham had opened the meeting with divine service, a discussion was begun as to whether there should be a discussion of the question. According to the order of Judge Grinnan, of the Chancery Court, no discussion was to be allowed, and its limit was to be left to the arbitrator. Dr. Willingham, however, took the floor in favor of opening a general discussion on the question, and a motion to that effect was acted upon favorably. Dr. Willingham then ruled that the speakers of each side should be limited to twenty minutes. This met with the general approval of the assembly, and discussion was entered upon.

J. W. Anderson, the first speaker, who appeared for the anti-Edwards faction, declared that Dr. Edwards should be retained. He declared Dr. Edwards to be a bone of contention, and that the church should be removed and the contention stopped. He was appealing in the interest of the church, and not making a personal attack on the pastor. "You of 'aye,'" greeted him, and his faction cheered together, alarming the ushers, who thought an outbreak of feeling was imminent. They paraded up and down the aisles and waved the people back into their seats.

The climax of the evening came when W. W. Fields took the floor. He read an affidavit from a woman named Mary Johnson of Goldsboro, N. C., where Dr. Edwards had held a former pastorate, containing a gross attack on Dr. Edwards's moral character. The affidavit charged that he had ruined the daughter of the affiant. The announcement was greeted with derisive yells on the one side, and with satisfied cheers on the other. In her statement the woman said that she did not wish to see Dr. Edwards this side of the judgment seat. The speaker also charged that the pastor had said he was unfit to remain with the church, and that he had signed a paper containing a confession of guilt. Great excitement ensued after the reading of the document, and Dr. Willingham narrowly averted trouble.

Henry Critchfield, a pro-Edwardsist, thought that the man who would read such an affidavit in public was a self-hater. He considered Edwards a fit pastor, and said that the church was never in a better financial condition.

More affidavits as to Dr. Edwards's character were read by both sides, and the last speaker appealed to the manhood, womanhood and fatherhood of the congregation to vote "no" against the retention of the present pastor. Time was up, and Dr. Willingham ordered that the balloting proceed. It lasted far into the morning. Much confusion resulted. The voters were required to stand up and announce their votes. On a question as to the identity of one woman, a voter, who persisted in saying that her name was "Annie," she had evidently forgotten that she had a last name. Another woman asked how the voters were called, and confusion always resulted. Half a dozen police officers, in charge of Sergeant Brown, were kept on the scene. At an early hour this morning the voting had not been concluded.

DIG UP AND BURN A LYNCHED NEGRO

Infuriated Mob Disinter Mangled Murderer's Corpse and Incinerate It.

TRY TO LYNCH HIS ACCESSORY

Angry Mob Sought Showers,
Who Loaned Murderer His Revolver.

CRISFIELD, MD., July 29.—Their passion unabated by the kicking and beating to death of the negro, Reed, who on Saturday evening, without provocation, shot and killed Policeman Daugherty, who had Reed's associate, William Hildred, under arrest, a mob at an early hour to-day dug up Reed's mutilated remains from the rude grave in a swamp near town, into which they had been thrown, riddled with bullets, and then, lighting a bonfire, tossed them into the flames and stood about watching until they were reduced to ashes.

Lemuel Showers, the keeper of a billiard-room frequented by negroes, who loaned Reed the revolver with which he shot Daugherty, was captured to-day and lodged in the county jail at Prince George's. Every train arriving at Crisfield was searched, in the hope that Showers would be found on board. Had he been, he would almost certainly have been lynched, for there has been much trouble with lawless negroes, and the feeling against such is very high. Hildred, whose arrest precipitated the trouble, has not yet been captured. When he is, the authorities will undoubtedly keep him away from this city, else he would surely meet a fate similar to Reed's.

Negroes Commend Lynching.
There has been no adverse criticism of the treatment given Reed. Those who put an end to his life strung his body up to a telegraph pole, and after the inquest, interred him in the swamp, yesterday did their work without attempt at concealment. It was no party of masked men, but a band of citizens whose patience had been tried too far by the lawless negroes of this locality. Even among the colored race the work of the lynchers met approval.

To-day the Town Council was waited upon by a delegation representing the best colored element of the vicinity, and including all the local colored ministers and a colored physician. They asked to be allowed to co-operate with the white citizens in restoring order and proper feeling between blacks and whites.

They asked that the Council close all places of business and amusement where the unruly element among the blacks might congregate and foment trouble, and including all the local colored ministers and a colored physician. They asked to be allowed to co-operate with the white citizens in restoring order and proper feeling between blacks and whites.

Make War on Negro Joins.
The Council has acted upon some of these suggestions. Nine negro joints have been closed. The police justices have been instructed to apply the heaviest possible penalties to convicted negro law-breakers, and heretofore all strange negroes are to be required, upon the day of their arrival in town, to state their business and to secure permission from the authorities to remain, failing in which they will be arrested and sent to the house of correction.

A large number of special officers have been sworn in and are on duty with a view to preventing further trouble between whites and unruly blacks.

Feeling is still high. Postcard pictures of the scene of the lynching have appeared, and are selling rapidly. Pieces of the rope by which Reed was suspended to the telegraph pole bring fair prices.

HOLY TRINITY TO BE CONSECRATED

Impressive Exercises to Mark Event on Day Before Convention Meets.

Elaborate arrangements are being made for the consecration of the Church of the Holy Trinity on October 1st, the day before the opening of the Episcopal General Convention in Richmond.

Large Sum Raised.
An invariable rule of the Episcopal Church is that no house of worship can be formally consecrated until the building and the ground on which it stands have been fully paid for. To this end the congregation of Holy Trinity have been working with the most commendable energy for the past three years, and the success of their labors is now in sight. When it was determined, three years ago, to hold the next General Convention in Richmond, Mr. Gravatt called the attention of the vestry to the appropriateness of having the church consecrated at the time and place.

In the past eighteen months, the congregation, without materially interfering with the regular activities of the church, have raised $27,000 to pay off the mortgage on the church and parish house. Most of this amount has already been paid in and out to the note-holders, and there are still a few subscribers' names remain to be collected when due on September 1st.

Considerably over twenty thousand dollars of the amount was raised in three weeks, the congregation meeting the pastor's appeal for help by offering with a single collection which paid over two-thirds of the obligation at one time.

History of Church.
The Church of the Holy Trinity was originally projected as a memorial to Bishop Moore, the lot being purchased by Dr. Peterkin in 1871, opposite the "Old Fair Grounds," now Monroe Park. The church records show that a "suitable chapel" was erected in 1874, the chapel and lot costing in all about $8,000.

HON. MOSES M. GREEN.

for the year 1906, $24,403.32, exclusive of building fund.

The opening service of the Episcopal General Convention will take place in this church on the morning of October 2d, and the Lord Bishop of London will preach. A unique service will be held in Holy Trinity Church on October 3d, when the triumphant offering of the Woman's United Guild will be presented.

CALEB POWERS IS AGAIN ON TRIAL

Kentuckian, Three Times Convicted of Goebel Murder, Arraigned.

OBJECTS TO JUDGE SITTING

Prosecution Does Not Want
Trial Now, and It May Go Over.

GEORGETOWN, KY., July 29.—For the fourth time Caleb Powers was placed on trial here to-day, charged with complicity in the murder of Governor William Goebel. Special Judge J. E. Robbins is on the bench. Immediately after court, counsel for Powers, entered a motion and filed an affidavit in its support to have the sitting judge sworn off the bench. Court adjourned until to-morrow to give the Commonwealth's attorneys time to consider the motion and affidavit.

Although not officially given out, it is reported that the allegations against Judge Robbins are sensational, charging prejudice in the former trial. The court will pass on the motion for removal to-morrow.

It is not believed that Robbins will vacate the bench. Although it is generally anticipated that he will go into the trial immediately and take his chances of being upheld by the appellate court, the report is current that the prosecution does not want the trial at this time, and that the case may be continued.

Powers has been twice sentenced to life imprisonment, and on a third trial was sentenced to death. He obtained new trials, however, each time.

Two Already Serving Terms.
Jim Howard and Henry Youtsey, two friends of Powers, have already been convicted of complicity in the murder and are now serving life sentences in the penitentiary. The ex-Governor William Taylor, in whose interests the convicted men are said to have acted, is still at large in Indiana, the authorities having refused to give him up.

When he was arrested, Powers did not have a dollar, and public sentiment was against him, but when the Legislature appropriated $100,000 to prosecute him and those indicted with him, his friends went to work to raise funds to assist him. It has been said that every prominent Republican in the United States has contributed to the big sum raised for his defense.

We are certainly excelling ourselves and everybody else in the present quality of Arbucks' Ariosa Coffee.

No such quality of coffee can be sold out of a bag, bin or tin, or under any other name by anybody in this town, for anything near the same price.

That's a strong statement, but you can take our word for it, and we are the largest dealers in coffee in the world. Another thing—the egg coating on ARIOSA COFFEE does not improve its appearance but preserves the flavor and aroma.

Remember that ARIOSA is not sold to look at, but to drink.

Complies with all the requirements of the National Pure Food Law. Guarantee 2041 Filed at Washington.
